Metis Jacco Findlay was the first “Freemen” or “Otipemisiwak” in the Athabasca Valley. In 1907 The Canadian Government passed an Order in Council for the creation of the “Jasper Forest Park” - enforcing the evacuation of the Metis in the Athabasca Valley. By 1909 guns were seized causing the community to surrender its homelands.

This documentary, Long Road Home focuses on a 14 day return trip by the descendants of the evicted families, as well as Jacco’s progeny.

This is part of our Bannock and & Movie series
